PROGRAM

Join us for a dynamic virtual panel discussion exploring design-build delivery from the owner's perspective, grounded in fresh research from FMI. This fast-paced session kicks off with FMI presenting key insights on how owners view design-build and the evolving role and value of the Owner's Advisor (OA) throughout the project lifecycle.

Following the research overview, an FMI moderator will lead an interactive conversation with three experienced panelists, including owners and a seasoned Owner's Advisor, diving into real-world lessons learned, best practices, and candid perspectives on collaboration, risk, decision-making, and project outcomes.

Expect practical takeaways, honest dialogue, and the opportunity to engage directly with industry leaders during a live Q&A making this session a must-attend for anyone involved in design-build delivery, owner representation, or program leadership.
