

TRENDS IN VIRTUAL REALITY AND TECHNOLOGY... AND HOW IT CAN HELP YOU

Thursday, June 14, 2018 at 11:30am
SAN DIEGO LUNCHEON

NEW LOCATION COURTYARD MARRIOTT - SAN DIEGO/LIBERTY STATION NEW LOCATION

Join DBIA for a luncheon on how emerging technology is changing the job process and how it can help you work more efficiently. Hear about the new trends from people that have implemented them and seen how they work first hand. BIM implementation, computational modeling as well as new virtual reality uses will be discussed AND shown in a special hands-on demonstration portion of our event. Come prepared to learn and experience these great new technologies!

PANEL

Casey Mahon, Architect, Carrier Johnson + CULTURE

Casey Mahon is an architect (NY) of varied experience in award-winning projects both in the United States and overseas. During his tenure at Carrier Johnson + CULTURE, he has developed particular expertise in the design and execution of urban mixed-use developments, government, and commercial projects. His current role as the Digital Practice Manager allows him to focus on firm-wide BIM implementation, computational modeling, and big data platforms. He is a professor of Architecture at Woodbury University and the NewSchool of Architecture + Design in San Diego, CA.

Jordan Moffett, DBIA, LEED AP BD+C, Virtual Design+ Construction Manager, McCarthy Building Companies

Jordan Moffett holds a Bachelor of Architecture and Construction Management Minor from Cal Poly SLO, and is a Registered Architect. He started his career on Integrated Design-Build (DB) projects, then cross-trained in field operations to better understand the full cycle of DB Delivery. After completing Integrated DB projects, Jordan joined McCarthy bringing his DB experience to a progressive firm and marketplace to affect greater change within the DB sector of the AEC industry. In 2014 Jordan transitioned from Operations into his current role as VDC Manager where he works to integrate all team members early in the design process, enhance collaboration, and ensure success of all DB projects in his group, resulting in an exceptional client experience.
