

SACRAMENTO STATE PRESENTATION YIELDS NATIONAL DBIA STUDENT CHAMPIONSHIP

The Sacramento State Construction Management Department recently captured the DBIA Student Competition National Championship in Las Vegas, NV at the 2013 Annual Design-Build Conference & Expo. The team of four students submitted a qualification package to be judged regionally. The team developed a design, cost estimate, schedule and site logistics plan in 7 short days for a Student Residence Hall at the College of William & Mary. After the team submitted their proposal response, one week later they were off to Las Vegas to present their design and construction plan to a panel of six industry professional judges. Come hear a reenactment as the students present their award winning presentation.

Thursday, February 27, 2014 at 11:30am LUNCHEON

11:30am - 1:30pm at Doubletree Hotel, Sacramento

SPEAKERS

Mikael Anderson, PE, Chair - Department of Construction Management
Mr. Anderson has an undergrad degree in CE at Cal Poly, SLO and a Masters in Structural Engineering at UC Davis. Before Mikael came to the Construction Management program, he worked for Granite Construction, Cole Yee Schubert Engineers, DPR Construction, and finally Caltrans in the Building Design Division. Mike is a licensed civil engineer and holds a CA General "B" Contractors License. His experience in the industry has allowed him to bring real world expertise to our students. Mikael started as a professor with the program and since has helped grow the program into its own department within the College of Engineering at Sacramento State.

Karen Hansen, PhD, DBIA, Associate Professor - Department of Construction Management
Dr. Hanson is a Professor of Civil Engineering and Construction Management at CSU Sacramento. She holds a Bachelor of Architecture degree from the UC Berkeley. Her graduate work consists of a Master of Science in Construction Engineering and Management and a Doctorate in Civil Engineering, from Stanford. A former engineering manager at Boeing, Karen has worked as a senior project manager and construction engineer for general contractors in the commercial and industrial sectors. Sac State's student chapter of DBIA was founded in 2009 with a $25,000 grant from the Charles Pankow Foundation. The grant helped Karen earn the Designated Design-Build Professional certification. She now serves as the chapter's faculty advisor.
